

Read This Before You Begin

In order to use this book, you will need:

- Project Files, which can be downloaded from the Web or available from your instructor. See the inside back cover for more information.
- A text editor, such as NotePad or WordPad.
- A Web browser. This book was written to be non-browser specific, and was tested using both Netscape Navigator and Microsoft Internet Explorer. While you only need one browser installed to use the book, a good practice to establish is to test Web pages in different browsers to insure your pages appear as you intend them to in different browsers.

The author of this book assumed the location of the Project Disk is Drive A. While this is the location shown in the illustrations and used in the steps, you can save your files to whatever location you choose or is chosen by your instructor. If you are using floppy disks, you should have one disk per unit.
